REPORT OF THE CONSULTANCY

Given to

SABS ENERGY ENVIRO Pvt. Ltd. INDORE

The Commercial Solar distillation plants are found to contain internal black coatings made up of low quality paints and hence they have less conversion efficiency.

In the present study a selective coating is identified having higher values of absorption in the complete visible range.

Optical coatings with highest Absorption are used and the efficiency of the solar distilled water plant is measured.

It is observed that the efficiency of the solar distillation plant is improved.
